DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cox (U.S. Patent 3,986,727) in view of Pieper (U.S. Patent 5,353,350).

Cox discloses a hitch mounting assembly including a frame supporting a working implement (12), a hitch member having an arc-shaped free end (Figure 4, for example) pivotable about a pivot axis. There is a locking mechanism (19). Cox does not appear to be self-aligning. Pieper teaches providing spaced tapered guides (90) in order to facilitate self-alignment. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used the guides of Pieper with Cox in order to ease attachment of the devices. Note that this combination would not require modification beyond ordinary skill since similar guides could be configured to extend from braces (17), for example

The locking mechanism is a pin (19) inserted through an aperture.

It is unclear what horsepower the vehicle has, since the inventions are directed elsewhere; however, it is standard practice to use the appropriately sized vehicle for a particular task. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used a 35 horsepower vehicle with Cox in order to best suit a small application. Note that a simple scaling down of either device would be capable of working with such a vehicle. Because no major design changes apart from this scaling down would have been necessary in order to make the devices work, this change is within ordinary skill.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 13 August 2007 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
